Data About Class In General

Introducing our 1937 Graduating Class. There are twenty-five of them. Look at them, count them, and size them up.

We have tried to tell you a little bit about each one, under his or her picture. That isn't nearly all to tell about them. This class has been with us longer than any class that ever finished at Barium. So many of them started out the year the Baby Cottage was opened. Before that, we took in very few children under six years of age.

Five of this present class were in that first lot that was taken in at the Baby Cottage. Odds and Ends and This and That Remember that snow on the fourth Sunday in February? Well do we recall it, for that wrought havoc with many of the Sunday School gifts of that day. But not so, with one Sunday School. Only $1.98 was the regular Offering. It was duly sent, but a few days later it was followed by another gift of $3.02, with the statement that "the superintendent and secretary-treasurer of the Sunday School got ashamed of that small fourth Sunday sum we sent you last week, so they wanted to make you a check this week for $3.02, to make $5.00 for the fourth Sunday's Offering. They decided not to let it come under $5.00 any more, and truly hope it will be more as the Sundays go by." Hats off to that crowd! Then, there was another Sunday School that didn't assemble at all that day, but here came an offering anyway. More hats off!! And, then there were other Sunday Schools that didn't let the weather interfere one whit with their usually fine contributions. Still more hats off!!

Within the past two months, 39 children at the Orphanage have recited the Child's Catechism. It is significant that this large number have completed these recitations, and is further significant that seven of the 39 are Baby Cottage members, all under six years of age. In the course of the full church year there have been many others to recite the Child's Catechism and quite a large number who have finished the Shorter Catechism.

It is regretted that this issue of The Messenger could not reach the readers before the graduating program, which was concluded Monday night, April 26th. However, pictures of the 25 boys and girls graduating this spring are carried in The Messenger this month, and an account of the exercises and awards will be related in the May issue of the paper. Rush work in the printing office prevented an earlier issuing of this Messenger.

Rev. Marshall S. Woodson, Th. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Salisbury, has accepted an invitation to conduct the spring evangelistic services at the Orphanage. The opening sermon will be preached on Wednesday morning, May 5th, and the services will close Sunday night, May 9th. Dr. Woodson will preach daily with the exception of Saturday, when there will be only the morning service.

HOWARD COTTAGE

Hello Folks,
This is station H. C. speaking. We are glad to see Spring again and our flowers are coming up. We had a nice Easter. Several of the big girls had a visit from their people. Mae Allen Barrett's mother of Asheville sent a box of cakes to us Easter. We enjoyed them.

The sixth and eighth grade girls played basket-ball Wednesday night. The score was eight to twenty in favor of the eighth grade.

Mr. Sams invited us to the show. The name of it was "Maid of Salem." We enjoyed it very much.

Our school closes April 23rd, Commencement closing the 26th. We have been working in our flower gardens. We will plant them soon.

—Mary Johnson

RUMPLE HALL

Ohoy! My Friends!
Since our last news letter to you many things have happened. In a day or two it seems that the trees have grown their green leaflets though they are not very large yet. It always gives you a better feeling to know that summer and vacation are around the corner. Our flowers appear to be doing pretty well for it to be so early.

The seventh grade pupils had their state exams today which seemed to us the easiest exam of our school year. Hope we can say that after we get our grades back and all appear before a large audience on April 26, to be recognized as high school pupils.

We all miss Mary Adams a former Rumble Hall girl, since she moved to Synod's Cottage to live. Last week Margaret Presnell and Myrtle Mills had a visit from their mothers. Frances Morgan had a visit from her sister Easter. About three weeks ago Miss Carpenter carried Louise Martin to see her mother who lives in Winston-Salem. Louise reported a real nice time.

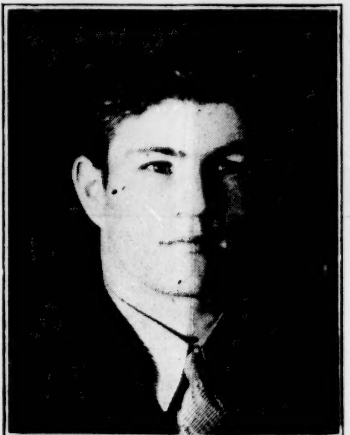

We have been having lots of fun playing basket-ball class games.

Last week Mr. Sams invited all of us to see "Maid of Salem." Thank you very much Mr. Sams.

Last week the Seniors had their class play, "Small Town Romeo." We all enjoyed it very much.

This is all for this time.

—Daisy Cayton

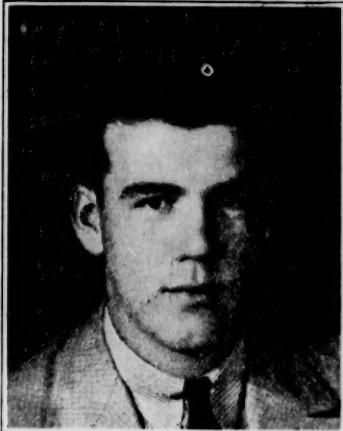

WILLARD DRYE
Charlotte

Entered in 1927. One of the youngest and smallest members of the class. He is chockfull of ability and made his greatest hit as a character actor.

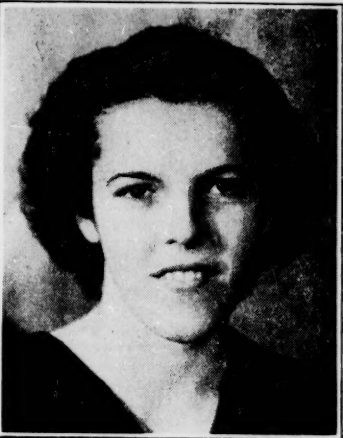

CLYDE JOHNSON
Davidson

Entered in 1926. Can't run in the same class with brother Fred, but makes up for it in football (1936 Captain) and in track events other than the dashes.

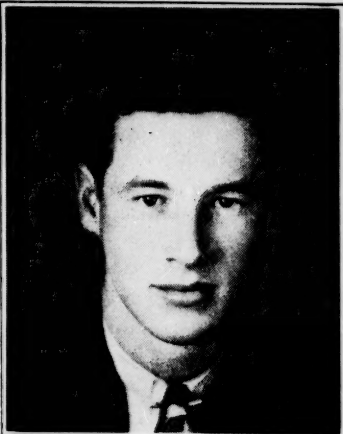

JULIUS KINARD
Statesville

Entered 1930. One fast growing up and coming boy. Has doubled in size since coming to Barium, and found time besides to play football, wrestle and make good grades in school.

GRACE ROBERTS
Rockingham

The basketball teams of the neighboring towns will no doubt send flowers when this girl graduates. They will all be so glad to see her finish. An outstanding athlete.

ROBERT GALLYON
New Bern

Entered 1927. We called him the Synthetic boy. So many hospitals worked on him, it didn't look like there would be anything left. You'd be surprised. He's way above the average.

LEILA JOHNSTON
Barium Springs

The Johnston baby that came with them to Barium fifteen years ago. Has made the basketball team, the music doings and still raring to go.

"Where do you live?" the judge asked the first tramp.
"No fixed abode," was the reply.
The judge then turned to tramp number two, who was slightly deaf.
"And you—where do you live?"
"On the floor right above the other fellow."

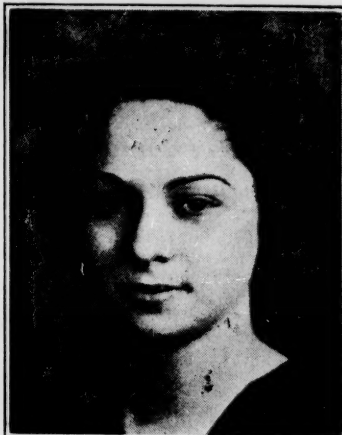

MARGARET HENDRIX
Hickory

Entered 1928. Captain of the 1937 basketball team and one of those rare people. A smiling guard. A mighty nice person to have about.

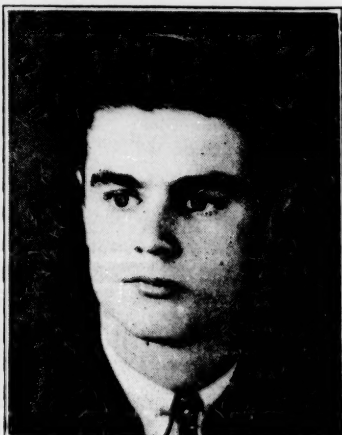

FRED JOHNSON
Davidson

Entered in 1926. Bad eyes and flying feet, that's Fred. The doctor fixed his eyes, and his feet fixed every track team we went against. It will be many a day before his record is beaten.

LUGENE WHITE
Gastonia

Entered in 1926. You remember those two White boys that graduated last year, well here is where the looks and the music in the family went to. Lugene is the name.

CLAYBORNE JESSUP
Pilot Mountain

Entered 1931. A good student, a man of the mountains, who incidentally was voted by his teammates the most valuable player on the football team.

The Orphanage population was delightfully entertained for almost an hour one afternoon recently when a group of 15 colored children from Troutman visited the Home and rendered many vocal numbers. The children will be glad to hear these songsters again.

Civic Clubs Entertained at Barium

From The Statesville Daily and The Statesville Record.

The fourteenth annual get-together dinner meeting of the civic clubs of Statesville and Mooresville was held in Rumble Hall, Presbyterian Orphans' Home, Barium Springs, Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

General Manager Jos. B. Johnston was master of ceremonies and he was joined by Mrs. Johnston and members of the Orphanage household in making the visitors feel perfectly at home. The Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs of both Mooresville and Statesville and the Lions Club of Statesville were represented, the members of these clubs having numerous guests. There were more than 500 people seated at the tables in the spacious dining hall and they were served by the girls of the home. The food which was served in super-abundance was composed almost entirely of the products of the orphanage farm and dairy—a most pleasing repast to which the people of of Statesville and Mooresville look forward with delightful anticipation each year.

The main dining room of the institution was filled to capacity with club members, their families and guests, as well as the children and officials of the home, and the tables were plentifully supplied with a menu that would tickle the palate of the most fastidious of gourmands.

"Gone with the Wind", Margaret Mitchell's story of the South during Civil war days was used as a fitting motif in arranging the menu which consisted of PORK sausage, ASHLEY Ham, RHETT Grits, PRISBY Peas, GENERAL STARVATION ELIMINATORS (Sweet potatoes), TARLETON TWIN Rolls, O'HARA Ice Cream and SCARLET Cake, LEYDON HOUSE Coffee with MELANIE Sugar and ELLEN cream, BONNIE BLUE MILK, the whole meal developing into "Civic Battle Between the Teeth". Anyone who has read this book will see the similarity of the titles.

A refreshing program of entertainment by the boys and girls of the orphanage is always a feature of the meeting, but this year the program was unique, something entirely different from any heretofore presented.

In the first scene, a group of boys appeared on the rostrum, each naming some Statesville or Mooresville man as his ideal, expressing the desire when he becomes grown-up to be like his ideal. St. Patrick, attired in the traditional green, promised the boys that their wishes would be granted, that they would have the opportunity to "change places" with the business men of the two principal Iredell towns, and in the next scene the aspiring youths appeared on the stage, each impersonating his ideal. This was a striking scene, the boys actually resembling their ideals in dress, in demeanor and in walk.

No public announcement was made, but it was later learned that Miss Anne Fayssoux Johnston is the author of this unique play. Miss Laura Gray Greene was piano accompanist, and the directors were Mrs. R. E. Jackins and Miss Anne Fayssoux Johnston.

The cast of characters included Dr. Wallace Hoffmann, represented by Ray Lewis.

Lewis Twins (John and Henry Lewis) represented by Tom and Jack McCall, twin brothers.

Other features of the delightful program, included a reading, "When I'm Sweet Sixteen," by Betty Whittle.

A song, "I Can Hardly Wait Until I Get To Be A Man," rendered by a group of small boys, composed of Charles Barrett, Grady Mundy, John Ammons, Scott Blue, Earl Allen, Dwight Spencer, Amos Hardy, Harvey Stricklin.

A song, "When I Grow Up," by Myrtle Rushing, soloist, with a chorus including Hannah Price, Betty Lou Hooten, Virginia Presnell, Doris Gantt, Betty Williams, Helen Vinson, Mattie Pearl Denson.

trips. But, two or three of them used the long distance telephone, getting facts and arranging for a presentation. Still others used Uncle Sam's mail service for a "fare-you-well". Are you telling us? We did the answering, and some of those replies required three or four closely typewritten pages.

Two young boys, who aren't Presbyterians, sent a gift to the Orphanage some time ago, with this accompanying statement, "Our grandfathers loved children and helped Orphans' Homes. We want to carry on." That's the spirit! More so than ever, since these young chaps are of another faith.

Small Town Romeo

"Small Town Romeo" was the name of the Senior Class play given at Barium on March 25th and 26th, but it was played in a "big-time" way by the boys and girls who had been selected to perform in this rollicking three-act comedy. The first performance on Friday night was given for all of the children at the Orphanage, while the second one was a paid-admission affair for the workers and other friends. The profit from the play will probably go into a Senior Class gift to the Home.

Those participating and others having a hand in making this production so entertaining are as follows:

Characters: Joe Stanford, a breezy young playwright, Geo. Faison; Sly Perkins, the village constable, Willard Drye; Bud Williams, the village mechanic, Fred Lowrance; Morton Kendall, the village miser, Fred Elliott; L. B. Lloyd, the mysterious guest, David Spencer; Betty Braxton, the young owner of the hotel, Frances Lowrance; Sarah Higgins, the spinster maid-of-all-work, Leila Johnston; Miss Gates, another mysterious guest, Olive Gaskill; Jane Hastings, the village banker's daughter, Margaret Hendrix; Anna Aldrich, the village school teacher, Bobby Marlowe.

Direction: Leroy Sossamon.

Stage Set: Paul Cornett, Fred Elliott, Julius Kinard, Clyde Johnson, Oscar Clark, Eugene Shannon, Ray Norman, Willard Drye, Fred Lowrance, John Donaldson, David Spencer, George Faison.

Properties: Lucile Burney, Sarah Fort, Fred Johnson, Eugene White, Eugene Shannon.

Script-Holder: Linda Culp.

Publicity: Ray Clendenin, Robert Gallyon, Ray Norman.

Good News

Caswell Sunday School, in Wilmington Presbytery, has resumed the Offering-per-month plan. The Primary Department of the Graham Sunday School, in Orange Presbytery, is devoting the Birthday offering to the Orphanage. While the Hillsboro Sunday School in Orange Presbytery and Centre Sunday School in Fayetteville Presbytery have not adopted regular plans of giving, unusually fine special gifts were made by these two to the Home at the close of the 1936-1937 fiscal year.

Perhaps the May Messenger will also contain more good news about Sunday Schools adopting some plan of helping the Orphanage.

Comment on the Table of Receipts for the month of March is being omitted, because in the May issue of The Messenger the final tabulation of the 1936-1937 year will appear. The tabulation above deals only with sums received by March 31st. In the first 15 days of April almost $6,000 came to Barium on the old year, and any comment on the above would be an anti-climax to the year's conclusion.

Next month the final regular and Thanksgiving totals will be announced, and the aggregate from Synod for the entire year. The first report on the 1937-1938 fiscal period will also appear next month.

REGULAR

EDITOR'S NOTE: Receipts below include gifts through March 31, 1937. Old year contributions arriving after March 31st will appear in The Messenger next month, along with the April gifts of the new 1937-1938 fiscal period.

CORRECTION: The $3.00 credited to the clothing fund in the March issue of the paper from the Grove (W) Auxiliary should have been credited to the regular support fund.
